That Coonskin Cap Getting To Be a Pesky Thing

Sen. Kefauver Is Now Irking Demo Bosses

Illinois May Draft Stevenson; Taft Says Nomination Assured

WASHINGTON, May 8—(AP)—While political experts attempted to evaluate primary elections held so far this week, one thing was certain—that pesky coonskin cap from down Tennessee way was looming larger and larger.

The coonskin cap is worn by Sen. Estes Kefauver who is seeking the Democratic Party nomination for President. His showings thus far have been remarkable, especially in face of the fact that he has lacked party bigwig backing.

He has been unorthodox in his campaign. In the first place, he didn't consult with party leaders as to whether he should or could run. He just ambled along from state to state shaking hands—and hauling down votes.

Thursday, in Springfield, Ill., Democrat Party bosses were convening amid talk of setting up another barrier against the coonskin cap—a draft of Gov. Adlai Stevenson.

STEVENSON, reportedly President Truman's choice as a successor until he said he was running for governor this year, is in Camp Cooke, Calif. He held a 30-minute telephone conversation Wednesday night with Jacob M. Arvey, Democratic national committeeman from Illinois.

"I said I hoped that they would not put me in an awkward spot by proposing me for the presidency," Stevenson told reporters. "I made it as emphatic as I always have, that I am a candidate only for reelection as governor of Illinois."

Arvey, in Springfield, appeared not to have given up on getting the convention to endorse Stevenson for presidential nomination.

The convention will name 20 at-large candidates to the July national convention. Each of the 20 will have a half-vote, completing Illinois' 60-vote delegation.

Backers of two Southern senators seeking the presidency, meanwhile, differed over the effect of Tuesday's Florida primary. In that popularity poll, Richard Russell of Georgia topped Kefauver 339,916 to 272,238 on the basis of returns from all but 56 of 1,682 precincts. Results are not binding on the state's delegates, to be elected May 27.

"THIS STOPS the Kefauver movement," said Sen. Walter George of Georgia, a Russell man, adding it "proves Kefauver can't carry the southern states."

Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois disagreed. He said Kefauver made "a remarkably good showing against great odds," losing only because he was opposed almost solidly by Florida's press and political leaders.

Both Russell and Kefauver expressed joy. Russell said his Florida victory puts new steam into his campaign, swinging to the west (Please turn to Page Twenty)

These busy days on the farm, with mechanized equipment, are quite different from the days when all equipment was horse drawn except threshing equipment pulled by steam engines.

There used to be an old saying "it takes money to make the mare go," but today it takes a whole lot more money to make the farm tractor and other mechanized equipment go.

It has not been too many years since there were thousands of horses in the county, and good horses were the pride of every farmer.

Now there is less than one horse to every farm in Fayette County. In fact, I would estimate the present number at about one horse for every two farms.

The 1945 census gave 2806 horses and 91 mules in Fayette County. The 1950 census showed 939 horses on Fayette County farms. The number of mules had dropped to 40.

Since 1950 there has been a still further reduction in the number of horses as they have been crowded out of the picture by mechanized equipment.

There are 1362 farms in the county. Mechanized equipment has speeded up farm work even faster than the automobile increased the speed of travel on the highways.

A great many remember when there was not a single piece of motorized farm equipment in the county and very few automobiles.

16 Business Firms Here Hosts To Approximately 150 Seniors

Most of the nearly 150 seniors in the five high schools in Fayette County today were reflecting on some of the new conceptions of the way business and industry operate that they picked up during their all-day visits with 16 businesses and industries here Wednesday.

Many of them will sum up their reactions in written reports at school on their experiences. But for others, there will be only the memories and the things they learned about the American system of free enterprise.

The event, known as Business-Industry-Education Day (BIE Day) was sponsored by the Washington C. H. Chamber of Commerce. The primary purpose was to give the men and women of tomorrow a first-hand close-up view of what makes business tick, and to show them some of the problems faced and how they are solved.

A secondary objective of BIE Day was to overcome some of the misunderstanding and misinformation about business by showing how a business gets started, its growth, the importance of leadership, employment practices, production and distribution methods, community relations and the opportunities and training programs.

IT STARTED OUT with the showing of a film at the Fayette Theater and an explanation by Ed Moser, the chairman of the Chamber committee that arranged the program. The motion picture told the story of the success a soap company achieved through fair and good business practices.

The seniors from Bloomingburg, Good Hope, Jeffersonville, Madison Mills and Washington C. H. high schools all gathered at the theater at 9:30 A. M. for the briefing. After a half hour of preliminaries, they broke up into groups and went with their hosts to spend the rest of the day until 3 P. M. in their offices and industries.

They were the guests of their hosts for lunch, some right at the places of business they were visiting and others at restaurants.

Although the hosts had spent many hours gathering information that would give the young men and

Bookie Boss Tells Of Cop Protection

NEW YORK, May 8—(AP)—Boss bookie Harry Gross, who has involved former top city officials in his multi-million dollar bookmaking business, testified Thursday William Whalen, former chief of detectives of the New York police department had been on his payroll.

Gross said Whalen went on his payroll right after he became an inspector, at which time Gross gave him a dinner and an expensive watch.

Before Gross took the stand for the second day in the police department trial of five officers accused of lying about their relations with Gross, a defense lawyer tried vainly to get an adjournment.

All five of the men on trial have filed for retirement this month and unless the case is completed before the effective date of their retirement they cannot be punished by the police department.

They face loss of pension rights in this trial.

Wednesday Gross testified James J. Moran shook him down for a $15,000 political contribution during former Mayor William O'Dwyer's 1949 campaign.

Solons Study Labor Picture

WASHINGTON, May 8—(AP)—Labor and industry, their demands and controversies, held the attention of several committees Thursday as Congress tackled an unusually heavy schedule.

Chairman Nathan P. Feinsinger of the Wage Stabilization Board returned before the House Labor Committee to defend his agency's steel wage decision.

He told the committee Wednesday the WSB did not exceed its authority in recommending a 26-cent-an-hour wage increase package for steel workers. He said industrial chaos would follow if Congress stripped the board of its powers to step into labor-management disputes.

Meanwhile, spokesmen for organized labor bitterly condemned a proposed anti-strike bill designed to prevent strikes that threaten national security.

WILLIAM GREEN, head of the AFL, and Joseph Curran, vice president of the CIO, termed the measure shocking and viciously anti-labor. They attacked the bill before the House Armed Services Committee which is considering it.

Introduced last week by Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va) to head off strikes in the steel, oil and other such vital industries, it provides for 80-day injunctions to prevent walkouts, and for operation of unions and industry by court-appointed receivers after 80 days if no agreement is reached.

It also would ban changes in wages or working conditions during negotiations or receivership. Either Congress or the President could initiate the injunction proceedings.

Green said the legislation would have a "catastrophic" effect on workers' morale, called it an insult to organized labor.

Curran said it was "as viciously anti-labor a bill as has ever been introduced in Congress." Both said it favored management.

Ohio Spud Price Probe Underway

WASHINGTON, May 8—(AP)—Enforcement agents of the Office of Price Stabilization were put on special alert in Ohio Wednesday to crack down on potato price violations. Agents in nine other states also were alerted.

Harry Stein, assistant enforcement director for the OPS, said reports have been received of low grade potatoes marked to a higher grade to get a better price. He said reports also have been made of tie-in sales requiring buyers to purchase large quantities of other vegetables in plentiful supply in order to get potatoes.

Democrat Party Changes Expected

Ohio Election Zooms Stock For Two Tafts, Kefauver

COLUMBUS, May 8—(AP)—The popularity of Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee and Ohio's Taft brothers zoomed Thursday off resounding victories in the state's primary elections.

Kefauver captured half the state's 54 Democratic national convention votes in a showing that presaged changes in the Ohio Democratic organization.

Sen. Robert A. Taft won all 56 Ohio delegate seats in the Republican convention to shut out Former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, who expressed favor towards Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower to court votes.

Eisenhower figured only indirectly in the voting because his name was not on the ballot. Ohio lacked a presidential preference contest and banned write-ins for delegates.

TAFT'S YOUNGER brother, Charles of Cincinnati, won the gubernatorial nomination in a three-man race and the right to face Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche in the Nov. 4 election. Lausche was opposed for nomination in his quest for a fourth term. His incomplete complimentary vote total of 445,741 paced Democratic candidates.

Former Price Stabilizer Michael V. DiSalle of Toledo outdistanced three rivals for the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senator. He will face Republican Sen. John W. Bricker of Columbus who was unopposed for renomination. Bricker's complete complimentary vote total of 648,077 topped all state candidates.

Complicated ballots slowed tabulations in Ohio and left them still incomplete but with no statewide contests in doubt.

Unofficial totals indicated that about 1,300,000 voted Tuesday, topping the 1948 presidential primary record of 1,286,721. About 825,000 Republicans voted this year. The secretary of state had predicted 900,000 Republicans and 600,000 Democrats would vote.

Kefauver's victory stunned the Democratic state organization that put up Former Sen. Robert J. Buckley of Cleveland as a "favorite son" to hold convention votes for trading purposes.

BULKLEY, himself, said Kefauver "made a very remarkable showing."

Kefauver had this to say: "I am pleased that the voters of Ohio are determined to name their

U.S. General Grabbed By Commie Prisoners

PUSAN, Friday, May 9—(AP)—The Army announced today that Red prisoners on Kojie Island had seized the Allied camp commandant, Brig. Gen. Francis T. Dodd, and a fellow-officer on Wednesday and still are holding Dodd as a hostage.

The other officer managed to escape, but General Dodd was dragged inside the Red prisoners' stockade. The other officer's name was not available.

A report from the island prison off the South Korean coast said a note had been passed from the stockade. Its contents were not disclosed. This report said that Dodd had not been harmed. It was several hours old, however.

Kojie Island has been the scene of two violent prison disorders this year.

On Feb. 12, 179 persons were killed in an uprising by Red prisoners in notorious "Compound 62."

ON MARCH 13, 12 prisoners were killed when anti-Communist and Communist prisoners engaged in a rock fight.

Dodd, who was deputy chief of staff of the U. S. Eighth Army, took command at Kojie after the February riot.

The fact that the general had been captured by prisoners was known in this provisional South Korean capital several hours before it was announced by the Army.

Correspondents were not allowed to go to Kojie to investigate, and a tight censorship was clamped on the island.

Soldiers (not otherwise identified in this dispatch) said Dodd and his companion were walking near the stockade when prisoners suddenly seized them.

On April 25, the Army announced that it was moving all anti-Communist or non-Communist prisoners to six new camps on the mainland, leaving only about 70,000 die-hard Reds on Kojie. Whether the move had been completed was not disclosed.

McGranery Due For Questioning

WASHINGTON, May 8—(AP)—The Senate Judiciary Committee called for testimony Thursday about court cases in which James P. McGranery figured before his nomination to be attorney general.

Chairman McCarran (D-Nev) said four or five witnesses have been summoned for the afternoon hearing. President Truman nominated McGranery more than a month ago to succeed J. Howard McGrath, who was ousted after he fired Newbold Morris as government cleanup boss.

Alternatives Being Weighed By UN Chiefs

Red Korean Boss Refuses To Accept POW Trade Proposal

WASHINGTON, May 8—(AP)—An uncompromising announcement by President Truman that "this is our position" has left the Asiatic Communists with the choice of accepting what is apparently the final Allied armistice offer or continuing a war that has cost them much and gained them little.

While the Communists mulled over the declaration that the United Nations' three-point proposal must be accepted in one package, military and diplomatic officials here weighed the alternatives to be used if the offer is spurned.

If the Chinese and Korean Reds turn down the one-package proposal, including the point that there be no forced return of prisoners, who don't want to go back, the prospects for continued war seemed uppermost. The shape this war could take—more prolonged stalemate on the existing battlefield, a blockade of Red China's ports, attacks on the China coast—figured in several alternatives considered by the allies.

A major factor in the Korean peace talks is world opinion. James Marlow, Associated Press news analyst, details this situation in his column which appears on Page 5.

The chance of a diplomatic effort outside Korea to settle the dispute remained a possibility.

DEPUTY DEFENSE Secretary William C. Foster was asked by reporters Wednesday if direct negotiations with Russia, a master Communist nation, had been considered. Foster replied that "every alternative has been considered," including that one.

The single package proposal submitted by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's negotiators at Panmunjom contains these three points:

1. That there shall be no forced repatriation of prisoners of war—as the Communists have insisted.

2. The United Nations will not insist on prohibiting reconstruction or repair of airfields in Communist areas.

3. The commission to supervise an armistice shall include two Communist satellite nations, Poland and Czechoslovakia, and two chosen by the United Nations, Sweden and Switzerland.

It was the first point that was at issue and it was that one over which the President was precise and adamant. He said "we will not buy an armistice by turning over human beings for slaughter or slavery."

THURSDAY, the Communists accused the United Nations Command of delaying a truce in Korea by refusing to negotiate further on prisoner exchange.

North Korean Gen. Nam Il's verbal blast failed to shake the Allied delegates from their no retreat stand against forced return of prisoners to Red rule.

The Allies have told the Reds 62,000 captured Red soldiers do not want to be repatriated.

"Your so-called screening of our captured personnel is absurd," Nam declared in the 18-minute session in Panmunjom.

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief UN Command delegate, called Nam's speech "propaganda that can serve no useful purpose."

At Nam's request, truce delegates will meet again Friday. The UN Command is willing to return 70,000 of the 169,000 prisoners of war and civilians it says are willing to return to Communist territory. The Reds demand return of 132,000 captured Chinese and North Korean troops.

Opportunities Shown Students

26 High Schools Represented Here

Twenty-six high school students from 15 schools in south-central Ohio gathered in the high school auditorium here Wednesday night to get some first-hand information about the courses available at Ohio State University, how to register and some of the new problems of college life they will face.

The meeting was arranged by Mrs. Olive Woodard, head of the home economics department of Washington C. H. High School, and Gordon Ryder, head of the school's vocational agriculture department.

The meeting was a sort of sight of the off-campus training course that is being conducted here now by the Ohio State University college of agriculture here for vocation instructors one night a week.

Associate Dean Chester S. Hutchison of the OSU college of agriculture and Dr. John Sprouse of the OSU entrance board came here to address the students and answer their questions.

With them were two senior co-eds majoring in home economics. They were Mary Millikan and Mary Stewart. They described enrollment procedures, showing the girls in the group a film entitled "The Home Economist in Business." They also elaborated the subject in their talks.

DR. SPROUSE told the boys in the vocation courses that he wished "everyone of you were graduating right now" and went on to explain how he had applications for young men with vocation training to fill more than a 100 different kinds of positions that ranged all the way from salesmen to chemists.

"I could place you all in almost any kind of a position right now," Dr. Sprouse told the group. Most of them were related to agriculture, he explained, and required vocation training.

Opportunities for scholarships at Ohio State also were discussed with the students. There are 28 still open, he said, but they will be filled within a month. Ryder said some of the seniors in the vocation course here already had made application for scholarships.

The university representatives also went over the questions of dormitories and living costs while going to school.

Students, accompanied by their teachers, came from Washington C. H. (four), New Vienna, Madison Mills, West Jefferson, Bainbridge, Lancaster, Wilmington, Madison Rural (just outside London), London, Lynchburg, Mowry town, Piketon, Owensville, Leesburg and Frankfort.

own candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination rather than to delegate that privilege to others.

Democratic State Chairman Eugene H. Hanhart of Dover won a district delegate post but lost election as a party state central committee member to Charles L. McDonald of Canton. Statute requires membership on the committee of its chairman but the executive committee could keep Hanhart on as a state chairman. The new central committee will decide Hanhart's fate. It must meet within 15 days after the election.

Charles Taft got about 47 per cent of the vote cast for the three GOP rivals for the gubernatorial nomination in his first try to state office.

Unofficial totals from 10,037 of the state's 10,312 polling places gave Taft 395,054; Former Gov. Thomas J. Herbert of Cleveland 328,863 and State Sen. Roscoe R. Walcott of Columbus 113,572.

Taft carried 11 large counties, including Cuyahoga (Herbert's home county) where he had the GOP county organization endorsement. He successfully bucked party organization opposition in his home county of Hamilton and Franklin where Walcott was endorsed.

DISALLE GOT about 46 per cent of the vote cast in the four-man Democratic senatorial race. Returns from 10,296 polling places gave Disalle 225,551; State Rep. James W. Carney of Cleveland 117,062; John W. Donahy of Hudson 110,197 and George L. Mark of Cleveland 32,692.

Republicans had three other contests on the state ticket.

In one of them, Mayor John W. Brown of Medina overcame widely endorsed Fred J. Milligan of Columbus, former state commerce director. Returns from 10,296 polling places gave Brown 297,619; Milligan 281,718 and George V. Woodling of Cleveland 171,196. Brown will face Lt. Gov. George D. Nye of Waverly who got 426,971 Democratic votes unopposed.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown of Columbus ran nearly 2 to 1 ahead of Edward J. Hummel of Cincinnati, who formerly held that office.

Francis B. Douglass of Cleveland outran Willard D. Campbell of Cambridge for nomination to the Jan. 1 term on the Ohio supreme court.

New Meters Being Readied For Use

Work of installing 238 new parking meters which take one cent coins, as well as nickels and dimes is well underway, and may be completed Friday.

One slot is for dimes, and the other takes either one cent or five cent pieces.

The public is asked to follow instructions printed on the meter boxes, and turn the meter release after each coin is inserted.

If two or more coins are inserted, without turning, the meter jams, and shows "violation."

All of the meters must be operated by hand.

The meters provide 12 minutes parking for each cent inserted, up to 120 minutes.

Bowling Party Held As Season's Climax

Sixty of the 114 members of the Washington C. H. Women's Bowling Association had themselves one big time Wednesday night at Bowl and as a sort of climax to the winter bowling season.

Naturally, the entertainment for the party was centered around their favorite sport, but instead of regular bowling, they used that only as the basis for a lot of stunts.

There was a head pin event which was won by Anna Mae West with a score of 105 out of a possible 120.

Then there was a contest for making splits. Five frames were bowled with the 3-7-10 pins standing and five with the 2-7-10 set-up. They were scored 5 points for one pin, 10 for two and 20 for all three. Verna Evans and Pauline Hiney won it with a score of 95.

Another bowling stunt called the "red pin" the pin boys got to place it on any spot they chose and the bowler had to pick it off to score. That event was won by Jane Mossbarger.

There were a lot of other stunts, too, designed primarily to provide fun for the bowlerettes. All told there were 45 prizes; that gives some idea of what went on. The prizes were all purchased or put up by team sponsors in the leagues.

An entry fee of $1.35 was charged to cover expenses. When it was all over, there was $10 left; it was put in the association treasury.

The affair was arranged by the members of the teams sponsored by the Warner Service Station and the Pure Pot Restaurant. They were Judy Wackman, Wilma Shepherd, Wanda Lowe, Margaret Shobe, Janice Warner, Ethel Anderson, Lena Mowery and Rachael Urton.

Ice cream and cup cakes were served to everyone—including the pin boys and the spectators—at the close of the festivities on the alleys.

Grain Market

CHICAGO, May 8—(P)—Some commission house buying sent grains higher on the Board of Trade Thursday despite a continued excellent crop outlook and the lack of any export business.

Soybeans led the upturn. The May contract jumped more than three cents at times on rather urgent short-covering. Beans rallied even though bean oil prices slipped back after the gains earlier this week. Oil was quoted at 9 3/4 cents a pound against 10 cents Wednesday.

There appeared to be some short-covering on the Korean news.

Reported Symptoms of Price Deflation

"Night club owners in Sydney, Australia, are grumbling these days—because the price of wool has dropped 50 percent in 12 months," said a feature news story in a recent issue of the authoritative Wall Street Journal.

"In equatorial Singapore, a pound of rubber worth 80 cents last spring now sells at 36 cents. Southeast of London, a five-room house price-tagged at $5,600 just four months ago is now offered at $4,482. In Chicago, a hundred pounds of hog worth $21.50 twelve months back now brings only $17.50."

Such developments as these, the story went on, are symptoms of world price deflation. More and more of them are appearing. And the point is that many an economist is coming to believe that deflation, rather than more inflation, may be the greatest world economic problem. This view was expressed by Britain's Chancellor of the Exchequer, Richard Butler, when he told Commons, "There is much more danger of deflation and the possibility of unemployment in the world in general than some of the lively economic critics outside this house imagine."

According to the Wall Street Journal roundup several factors seem to be responsible for the reversal of the price trend. First, world production of physical goods is very high. Second, the outbreak of the Korean war started scare buying on a global scale and sent many prices clear out of line. Third, extremely stiff taxes are cutting deeply into the buying power of the people in this country and abroad. Our per capita taxes are over five times as great as in 1938.

Some of the breaks in prices cited by the Journal are very great. For instance, copper reached 60 cents a pound in world markets after the Korean war started—now it is down to 40 cents and less. Wool slumped from a high of $3.80 to $1.55. Cotton touched 46 cents, then slid back to under 42.

Here is how the Journal summed up the economic situations in a number of major countries:

FRANCE: Wholesale prices have turned downward, despite the fact that the government printing presses have been working hard producing francs. As the newspaper said, "The fact that French prices are slipping at all underscores the strength of the world trend."

BRITAIN: Unemployment has appeared, notably in textiles. Prices have weakened. Foreign demand for British goods has contracted.

BELGIUM: A Brussels bank reported, "During February signs of a recession in the Belgium economy were still apparent on all sides. The entire price scheme is on the decline, with the exception of wages."

CANADA: Wholesale prices have been declining for many months. The government has relaxed installment buying regulations because of lagging sales of consumer goods.

DENMARK: The market for Danish goods has shrunk, and unemployment is about 10 percent greater than a year ago.

UNITED STATES: The wholesale price index, which has been slipping slowly down for a year, is at the lowest level since March, 1951. There has been much price cutting on durable goods, such as television sets, and some other commodities as well. Our factory output in the nation is more than double that of 1939.

Seven Years Ago This Week

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK—Seven years ago this week the guns ceased fire in Europe, and a way of life they never wanted ended for millions of Americans.

It was the way of war. The news had been expected along the front for days, the link-up of the American and Russian forces along the Elbe River had made a German surrender only a formality.

But when word of the final surrender did come it raced through the battle lines like a surf of joy.

Yet in the hour of victory there was a strange lack of wild elation among the combat troops. They had fought too long and too hard for this moment, and they were overtired.

And in most soldiers' hearts there was this worry: "Hitler is down, but Hirohito is still to go. Will I have to go to Japan now?"

It is no criticism of the courage of these troops to say that most of them had no enthusiasm for a long journey to the Far East and more fighting there. They felt that Europe had been their way and they had won it. They had lost many friends along the march from Normandy to the Elbe. All they wanted was to go back home and pick up the life they had left behind—to be again as they had been before.

It was this feeling—the doubt as to whether they would be ticked to the USA or Japan—that accounted for the little general jubilation over the end of the European war.

Some soldiers wiped their eyes at the news. Some fired their carbines into the air—and immediately got bawled out for wasting ammo. Some went absent without leave. Some dug out hidden bottles of French brandy and got roaring tight. Some went off and sat by themselves and thought of buddies who hadn't made it all the way.

But most of the men just gathered in small groups and talked it over—and there really wasn't too much to say.

I remember that night... the sweetness of search slept on in safety... tracer bullets lofting lightly up through the darkness as someone growled "there's another trigger happy fool celebrating"... cigarette butts glowing and dying like fireflies in the lips of men stretched flat on their backs and staring up at the sky and thinking long, long thoughts of those away.

Already, this mighty army, its task done, was beginning to disintegrate. The men no longer were thinking of the common goal ahead—a river to be crossed, a ridge mass to be stormed and taken. They were being pulled apart by the tugs of peace, the possibility of going back to their own private lives.

Once its goal is gone, the army is gone. The breakup of the vast American fighting machine began that night of victory seven years ago in Europe.

The army came home, disbanded, and built more homes and families and had more children than any army in history.

"What did you do in the last war, Daddy?" asks a small son of one of these combat veterans. And today—seven years later—Daddy looks at the puzzling picture in Europe, scratches his head, and wonders himself.

"Well, I whipped Hitler," he finally ventures.

"Who's Hitler?" demands his small son.

President vs U. S. Constitution

By George Sokolsky

I have been receiving mail on the subject of the Constitution and I find that some of the writers speak of the Constitution as a dogma and they ask whether human welfare is to be sacrificed to dogma.

It cannot be incidental that this question is raised. For many generations, the youth of this country have been getting a dose of the concept that whatever is dogmatic is per se wrong; that there are no absolutes about anything, not even the Ten Commandments. These Sokolsky generations of young people were taught that the economic basis for society and life is paramount; that all the developments of the human mind are the product of the economic environment of the moment. Therefore, the Constitution is not basic but is a product of the economic environment of the United States in 1787. That environment has since changed; therefore, the Constitution is inadequate today.

The fallacy of this doctrine is that the very existence of the United States derives from the Constitution. The Civil War was fought over the right to secede from the Union, a right which was claimed because the Constitution is a contract among the states, each one agreeing to abide by it. It was not adopted by the United States but by each state. Should the Constitution fall, the alternative to our form, representative government by and for free individuals, can only be some form of totalitarian government for an enslaved people.

The Constitution has proved over 163 years to be a practical document; in fact, it has survived all other similar arrangements, including the unwritten British Constitution, which is really an accumulation of habits, traditions and acts of legislation.

The men who wrote the Constitution were concerned with power. There was no antipathy to England, the mother country; there was profound objection to the use of economic and political power to reduce a people to bondage. Therefore, those who labored over the Constitution, practical men, who had themselves fought in the Revolutionary War, devoted themselves to the question of power and determined that they would set up a form of government in which no one would rule.

Alexander Hamilton wrote: "... History will teach us... that of those men who have overturned the liberties of republics, the greatest number have begun their career by paying an obsequious court to the people; commencing demagogues, and ending tyrants."

Actually, it is more evil to corrupt the law, to subvert the law, than to violate the law.

Murder, Inc., violated the law. These men engaged in murder for hire. Some of them murdered each other; some of them were punished by the courts. Their acts in no manner weakened the law against murder.

On the other hand, the Kefauver investigation opened our eyes to the effort of gangsters to corrupt the law, to use wiles and devices to make the law ineffective or even to remove the law altogether, weakening the state and reducing the resistance of the people to general immorality. This covert activity, evil in itself, produces national diseases because not only are officials corrupted and the law lessened, but the people become subservient to those who obtain power by a collusion of gangster and official.

Mr. Truman challenges the nature of our society by seeking power where it does not exist. The right to rule is nowhere established in the American Constitution, which insists upon limited powers in each branch of government, so that at no time, in no circumstances, would it be possible for an official to use unlimited power to serve a particular purpose. The president of the United States is not a ruler; he is an instrument created by the Constitution to perform particular tasks.

The argument has been set forth that as Mr. Truman will not be a candidate for president, he can have no intention of expanding personal power. That is beside the point, which is that whenever an attempt is made to weaken the authority of the Constitution and to subvert the law, it must be fought because the law transcends personalities. If Truman had only one more day to serve, it would be necessary to take the steel seizure case up to the supreme court to eviscerate the inviolability of the Constitution. This is not dogma; it is the safeguarding of our personal freedoms.

Escapee Slugs Akron Tailor

AKRON, May 8—A state reformatory inmate, arrested shortly after he attempted to hold up a tailor, is being held by police.

The man, Jack R. Foutty, 27, of Akron fled from Grafton honor farm of the Ohio State Reformatory on April 26. He was trapped and arrested Tuesday a half hour after he slugged the tailor, Joseph Stromayer, 64, on the head with a toy pistol. Foutty ran from the shop without taking anything.

Diet and Health Term Often Misused For Some Ailments

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Many a patient who comes to the doctor with a case of indigestion says someone has told him he has "too much acid in his blood" or "too much acid in his stomach." This, he thinks, may be the cause of his complaints. Other patients with skin rashes, sinus trouble, colds, headache, diarrhea, offer the same story.

There is not much danger that the blood will become too acid. Remember that being acid or alkaline is a matter of degree, like being short or tall. Normally, the blood is slightly more alkaline than water, and the body is organized to keep it at just that level. It does this with a complicated chemical arrangement known as "buffering."

When Protection Fails

On the rare occasions when this protection fails and the blood becomes too acid or too alkaline, the results can be very serious—coma, convulsions, or death. This is frequently seen in such a disease as diabetes.

With the stomach, it is a different story. A normal stomach produces hydrochloric acid, which is very important in digesting food. Usually when a person has an acid stomach, he is complaining of indigestion, with excess gas, bloating, and a sour taste in the mouth. These symptoms may be due to many other causes besides acid in the stomach, including peptic ulcer, gall-bladder disease, stomach tumor, and adhesions of the bowel.

To Discover Real Cause

Many times we find that people who have been blaming their indigestion on an acid stomach, or who think they have a "nervous stomach," really have complaints of a very different nature. It may take a thorough physical examination to discover the real cause. Anyone with frequent attacks of indigestion should have a careful examination by a physician, including X-rays of the stomach.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Mrs. J.: My child has a severe case of scabies. What causes it?

Answer: Scabies is an infection of the skin by a mite, and usually is caused by coming in contact with an infected person, his clothing, or bedding. In this condition, small red spots appear which produce a great deal of itching. Usually scabies occurs around areas where there is hair, and between the fingers.

Court Can Now Break Labor's Grip

By Ray Tucker

WASHINGTON, May 8—America's judges now have a chance to break the political grip which organized labor's trio of leaders has had on the White House, Democratic Congresses and the Democratic Party for the last twenty years. They may also smash an alliance which has given its beneficiaries almost a mortgage on the executive branch of the government.

That will be the basic, political effect of the Pine decision in the steel seizure litigation, if it is upheld by the Supreme Court. Incidentally, the high tribunal's prohibition against any wage increase pending its final decision, is regarded as a sign that it will hold against Truman, although the vote may be closer than is anticipated by the general public and the legal fraternity.

HARMFUL—These adverse implications of the courts' intervention are fully understood by such canny and collaborative politicians as President Truman and Philip Murray, head of the C.I.O. Both realize that this possible reversal of their fortunes, coming on the eve of the presidential election, may be harmful. Both sense that their mutually advantageous partnership may be broken by the substitution of legal processes for political manipulation.

Truman's own friends now deplore his too open play for the labor vote, fearing that it will react against even the best candidate they can name at Chicago. Murray's associates recall their ancient warnings against placing all his trust in political prizes, even though their names be Roosevelt and Truman.

REVISING—Although standing on the sidelines, those two other labor politicians—William Green, president of the A.F. of L., and John L. Lewis, U.M.W. boss—are revising their political strategy. Green winces every time the courts upset the Truman-Murray combination, for all his eggs are deposited in a White House basket.

John L. grins and remarks "I told you so," recalling his bitter experiences with both Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman. He will also remind his miners that he urged them to vote against both men on the Gompers theory that the unions always lose when they give hostages to any political organization. He ought to know.

DUBIOUS—Although dominated by Democratic appointees, the judicial branch of the government, which was alternately snubbed and gerrymandered by both the Roosevelt and Truman regimes, may now undo the political revolution which transformed the labor unions into an annex of the Democratic Party.

With the shift of certain racial elements from the G.O.P., this desertion has been chiefly responsible for five successive Democratic presidential triumphs.

Without a return of a sizable portion of this vote, the Republicans' chances of recapturing the executive branch are dubious, even behind an Eisenhower.

ESSENTIAL—Even more than a repudiation of Truman's attempt to expand executive authority in the steel seizure, the judges' assertion of a president, not simply Truman—of a vast reservoir of political strength.

The man in the White House, if the courts support Judge Pine, can no longer assure ballot-box success for himself or his party by surrendering to the labor bosses whenever they threaten to call a strike in a key industry. And today, in our integrated and complicated economy, the judges may hold that almost every industrial operation has become essential to the national welfare or security.

PATTERN—Ever since the sensational sit-down strike in Detroit automobile factories in the mid-thirties, the unions have resorted to such a persistent and definite pattern in their relations with the government that it has become one of their by-laws. It has rarely failed to win them their demands.

In war or peacetime, they have struck. During hostilities, F.D.R. took them over under specific statutory authority, and eventually negotiated a new contract eminently fair to the unions. When the plants were returned to the private owners, the higher wage scales were continued under new and more generous price arrangements with the government. Thus Uncle Sam, which means the taxpayers, subsidized the strike and the wage boosts.

With the coming of peace and evidence that both labor and government planned to continue this tit-for-tat game, Congress passed a labor-management law known as the Taft-Hartley Act. It has been revised by both the White House and the Murray-Green-Lewis trio. Truman, as in the steel dispute, has tried to by-pass it in every labor crisis.

STRATEGY—With his promulgation of a self-created emergency—the "cold war" and the "police action" in Korea—Truman tried to use the same wartime strategy. First, he sought to take over the plants, and give the unions what they demanded during his period of extremely nominal ownership and operation.

Judge Pine declared that his seizure was illegal and unconstitutional, to put it mildly. In a special ruling, the Supreme Court told Truman that he could not raise wages during his fourteen days of industrial dictatorship.

Now, airily and squarely, it is up to the Supreme Court to force the White House and the unions to abide by the Constitution rather than the might-makes-right law of the political jungle!

Wedding Vows Read Saturday In Jamestown.

The marriage of Miss Katherine Knecht, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence J. Knecht of near Jeffersonville and S-Sgt. B. Paul Chrietberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Chrietberg of Mineola, Texas, was an event of Saturday, May 3 and was solemnized in St. Augustine Church, Jamestown.

Bouquets of white snapdragons and lilies were decorations on the altar and Father Kallagher officiated at the double ring ceremony at 9:30 A. M.

Mrs. Katherine Houghay was soloist during the nuptial mass and sang "Ave Maria" and "On This Day O Beautiful Mother," accompanied by Mrs. William George organist.

The bride was attended by Miss Helen Grillo of Dayton, as maid of honor, Miss Dorothy Chrietberg of Dallas, Texas, sister of the bridegroom and Miss Mary Stang of Dayton as bridesmaids.

Mr. Robert Knecht, brother of the bride, was best man and ushers were S-Sgt. Russell Bailey, S-Sgt. Avery Ledford of Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton and Clarence J. Knecht, Jr., brother of the bride.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was wearing a bridal gown of white Chantilly lace and nylon tulle designed with a stand-up collar outlined with lace applique, long sleeves tapering to points at the hands, and a closely fitted bodice of lace over taffeta.

The bouffant skirt of two layers of nylon tulle featured an overskirt of Chantilly lace which dipped to a deep V in the front and the full train was cathedral length.

A double tiered veil of imported French illusion was attached to a matching lace cloche trimmed with crushed tulle and studded with pearls.

She carried a bouquet of roses and valley lilies centered with a white orchid in shower effect and her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom.

The attendants wore gowns fashioned identically with Chantilly lace bodices and nylon tulle skirts over taffeta in colonial style, with panels of lace on either side of the skirts.

Their halos were of ruffled nylon tulle and their mitts were also of nylon tulle matching their gowns.

The maid of honor wore yellow and the bridesmaids were in orchid and their cascaded bouquets were of carnations in shades matching their gowns.

Strands of pearls worn were the gifts of the bride.

Following the wedding a breakfast for the bridal party and immediate families was held at Rest Haven, near Xenia, and from two to four in the afternoon the bride's parents entertained at a reception at their home.

The bride's mother was wearing a black crepe street length dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white roses.

The couple left later for a short wedding trip through the west and for travelling the bride wore a

Open House May 18 At Air Base

Public Is Invited To Make Visit

Many Fayette countians will motor to Wright-Patterson Air Force Base near Dayton, Sunday, May 18, for the Armed Forces Day open house at the big base.

More than 1,500 airmen will parade in full military review during the day.

The dress review, first to which the general public has been admitted, is one of the highlights of a two-and-a-half hour entertainment program now in final planning stages.

In addition to the formal program, which gets underway at 1:30 P. M., the open house will feature static displays of USAF aircraft and mobile exhibits from local and national industries. Gates to the navy blue suit with matching accessories and a white orchid corsage. Upon their return they will reside temporarily in Fairborn.

The bride, a graduate of Jeffersonville High School and Good Samaritan Hospital School of Nursing, Dayton, is now employed at Brown Hospital, Veteran's Administration, Dayton.

Sergeant Chrietberg is stationed at the 2750th Base Medical Group at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base and following his discharge soon from the service the couple will establish their home in Dallas, Tex.

Out of town guests at the wedding were from Dayton, Springfield and Texas.

Wright Field flight line exhibit area will open at 11 A. M.

The program itself will be divided between ground and aerial demonstrations. In addition to the troop review, it will include an appearance by the Sea Chanters, Miami University Naval ROTC choral group and a demonstration by the Dayton-Oakwood Civil Defense organization. The aerial portion of the show will be announced shortly.

The 80-voice ROTC chorus, established at Miami in 1950, already has an impressive string of radio, television and personal appearances to its credit, including two guest spots on the Arthur Godfrey show. The Sea Chanters were also a feature of Dayton's 1951 Armed Forces Day program.

The civil defense demonstration will illustrate radiological defense techniques that would be used in a city which had been atom bombed.

Non-Ferrous Scrap Metals Are Needed

There is a pressing demand for non-ferrous scrap metal, such as copper, brass, bronze, aluminum, zinc and sonon, to meet the shortage in industry and for war needs.

In a recent statement regarding need for such metals, the Scrap Metal Mobilization Council says:

"These metals have been in such short supply that in order not to jeopardize the defense program, civilian industries have had to be seriously curtailed. We must have this scrap so that we can properly equip our fight forces on land, sea and in the air, as well as those of friendly nations, and at the same time keep our non-defense industrial activity at the level necessary to avoid unemployment and want. The non-ferrous metals are, of course, indispensable in the electrical, automotive, building and many other industries.

"As one significant example of how important non-ferrous scrap metal is, it should be noted that as much copper is recovered annually from copper and copper-alloy scrap as is mined by the great copper companies in the United States. America has a self-interest as well as a patriotic duty in helping to increase the supply of this scrap."

Big Gas Concern Asks Price Boost

Application of the Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation, owners of the three big gas mains crossing Fayette County a few miles north of Washington C. H. has been filed, asking for a gas rate increase.

If the increase is granted, in all probability the increase will be passed on to consumers here and elsewhere who receive gas through the big transmission corporation.

R. H. Hargrove, president of the huge gas concern, has announced that the company has filed with the Federal Power Commission new rate schedules for gas sales to its utility and municipal customers. Increases are necessary.

Hargrove points out the boost is to meet increased costs and maintain adequate equipment for handling the gas.

The new rates would yield an estimated $42,000,000 in 1953, it is pointed out.

The Texas Eastern furnishes huge quantities of gas to the Ohio Gas and Fuel Co., which supplies The Dayton Power and Light Co. with gas.

1951 Pulitzer Prize Awards Are Reported

'The Caine Mutiny' Is Listed As Top U. S. Novel Of Year

NEW YORK, May 8.—His novel of the wartime Navy, "The Caine Mutiny," has brought Herman Wouk the annual Pulitzer Prize for fiction.

The stage drama award has gone to Joseph Kramm for his play, "The Shrike," a story of an estranged husband and wife set in the psychiatric ward of a city hospital.

In the newspaper field, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch's exposure of corruption in the Internal Revenue Department has won that daily its fifth Pulitzer prize, the most awarded to a single newspaper.

John M. Hightower, foreign affairs reporter of the Associated Press, received the annual prize for international reporting for "the sustained quality of his coverage of news of international affairs" during 1951.

SELECTIONS for the 1952 Pulitzer awards were announced by trustees of Columbia University. The awards in various fields of creative endeavor were established by Joseph Pulitzer, the late publisher, in a bequest to Columbia.

Pulitzer founded the Post-Dispatch, which won prizes in 1937, 1941, 1948 and 1950. The five citations of the St. Louis paper were for meritorious public service.

The San Francisco Chronicle's George DeCarvalho was cited for local reporting for his stories of a "ransom racket" extorting money from Chinese in America who had relations in Communist China.

Anthony Leviero, of the New York Times, was awarded the prize for national reporting. Leviero wrote an exclusive report on discussions between President Truman and Gen. Douglas MacArthur at Wake Island during their 1950 conference.

It was published April 21, 1951, shortly after Truman ousted the general as Far Eastern commander. Cited for the editorial writing award was Louis LaCoss, of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, on the basis of his editorial entitled, "The Low State of Public Morals." It dealt with the West Point cheating scandals, basketball fixes, exposures of government corruption, and the U. S. Senate Crime Committee hearings.

IN HISTORY, the prize went to Oscar Handlin, an associate professor at Harvard University, for his "The Uprooted." It is the epic story of migrations to America.

The biography award went to Merlo J. Pusey for "Charles Evans Hughes," a study of the late chief justice. Pusey is the associate editor of the Washington Post.

"Collected Poems" won the poetry prize for Marianne Moore, a native of St. Louis, but now a resident of Brooklyn.

"Symphony Concertante" brought the music award to Gail Kubik, musical adviser and staff composer of the National Broadcasting Co.

Two special citations were awarded this year: To the Kansas City Star, and to Max Kase, sports editor of the New York Journal-American.

Editorial planning, organization and execution of news coverage of the 1951 floods in Kansas and Missouri rated the citation for the Star. Kase was honored for his exposure of bribery and corruption in basketball.

The first time this year, individual prizes in journalism were worth $1,000 a piece. Individual awards in the fields of arts and letters remained at $500 each. Win-

Flood Disaster Plea Appears To Be Shunned

WASHINGTON, May 8.—For the second time within a year, President Truman's request for a national system of flood disaster insurance appears likely to be ignored by Congress.

Senate and House Banking Committees, which received proposed legislation providing for the insurance, have no plans for early consideration act, if any at all.

Both committees say they are now busy drafting bills to extend the Defense Production Act, which expires on June 30, and hearings on those measures still are in progress.

On top of that, Congress hopes to adjourn in time for the national political conventions starting early in July.

"I just don't see how we can get around to it at this session," said Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich.), senior Republican on the House Committee. "It is not a rush matter."

The President's request Monday was in the form of a message sent to Congress along with a proposed law to set up what he called "a sound and workable flood insurance system."

The need for flood insurance, the President said, is urgent, as has been demonstrated by recent disasters in the Midwest. He pointed out that such insurance is "virtually unobtainable from private insurance companies, nor does it seem likely that the private companies, by themselves, will find it possible to write flood insurance at reasonable rates."

Prices Decline On Some Foods

Chickens Set Pace For Dinner Bargains

NEW YORK, May 8.—Frying chickens and tomatoes cost a little less in most places this week, and many stores also trimmed retail prices of hams, chuck roasts and several cuts of lamb as specials for the coming weekend.

Shoppers are likely to find some unusual bargains in cakes, too—for Mother's Day. The stores are promoting special cakes, candies and even apple pie more heavily than usual for the occasion this year.

Price declines predominated in the fresh produce department. Lower in most markets, with supplies picking up, were asparagus, beets, broccoli, celery, corn, cucumbers, escarole and endives, mushrooms, radishes and summer squash.

Lettuce worked a little higher, however, and carrots, cauliflower and sweet potatoes were up in some places. Citrus fruits were about unchanged, and more strawberries and cherries were being shipped to distant markets and their prices were moving lower.

THE SUPPLY squeeze in potatoes continued over most of the nation. Dealers said it appeared markets distant from growing areas might have to wait until early June for any notable improvement.

They said many growers in California apparently were leaving their potatoes in the ground longer than usual, to grow bigger, with buyers fairly well assured for them.

Frying and broiling chickens were one to as much as 10 cents a pound cheaper in many stores this week, reflecting record production. Some 2½ million more broiler-fryers are expected to be on the market this month than at this time last year.

Tender young chickens top the Agriculture Department's list of most-plentiful foods for thrifty buying both this week and next. Other foods on this week's list were asparagus and spinach.

Some nationally-advertised brands of family flour advanced 10 cents a hundred pounds at the producer level this week and millers said the boosts probably would show up eventually at retail. Cake flours sold in bulk to bakeries also were marked up, about 15 cents a hundred pounds, by some mills.

Ohio Youth Said Taking Any Job

COLUMBUS, May 8.—John Rodgers, Ohio education department official, Tuesday said many youths in Ohio schools "don't care what kind of a job they get so long as they can make a living."

Rodgers, guidance service supervisor of Ohio schools, stressed the need for more student vocational guidance. He addressed the 46th annual convention here of the Boys' Clubs of America. Some 600 delegates from 37 states are attending the four-day meeting which ends Thursday.

Drift Across Atlantic Set By Frenchman

Scientist To Study Theory On Survival On Raft At Sea

PARIS, May 8 — (AP)—A young French doctor, who plays the cello an hour a day for amusement, is about to play at being shipwrecked for two months to test his theories of survival at sea.

He is 27-year-old Dr. Alain Louis Bombard who intends to drift across the Atlantic Ocean on a floating "laboratory" raft with four companions living on nothing but seafood.

For thirst, they will drink the doctor's own recipe of seawater mixed with juices pressed from fish with a fruit squeezer. He says it tastes something like mineral water.

A short, stocky and broadshouldered man with large round eyes, Dr. Bombard is preparing for his voyage at his headquarters in the Oceanographic Museum at Monaco. He has not yet definitely picked his companions, but one, he says, is a Dutchman.

THE DOCTOR'S craft, now under construction in Rotterdam, Holland, will be a special Polynesian-type raft—double parallel floats connected by planks. A cabin amidships will shelter bunks, a collection of books and the doctor's laboratory.

At sea, the raft will proceed under sail. It also will have a small auxiliary motor for use in entering ports or in case of grave emergency. The takeoff is set from Gibraltar, sometime around June 1. Dr. Bombard estimates it will take 12 days to go from Gibraltar to the Canary Islands, and another 12 days to reach the Cape Verde Islands off Dakar on the bulge of West Africa.

From there, on the long and lonely leg across the Atlantic, it will be more than a month before the five men sight land again somewhere between Trinidad and Puerto Rico.

A current theory on shipwrecks is that lifeboats should remain stationary to enable rescue ships to locate them.

The doctor disagrees with that, insists on mobility. His reasoning is that the main problem for survivors is to get enough food—seafood—to keep alive.

For this trip, the doctor's principal equipment will be fishing tackle and the fruit squeezer.

One other source of food, the doctor says, will be the minute plant and animal organisms which float at or near the surface of the sea. To gather this, the crew will be equipped with filter nets. He says that about a quarter of a pound of this—known as plankton—contains as much Vitamin C as half a lemon.

Old Maestro Bed-Bound, But Sings Anyhow

CLEVELAND, May 8 — (AP)—The flesh was weak but the voice was willing in the case of Band Leader Ted Lewis.

The old maestro of the top hat and clarinet was told he would have to stay in St. Luke's hospital here two weeks for treatment of a stomach ulcer.

"But my show must go on," he protested. Whereupon he summoned a crew of phonograph technicians and recorded several of his nostalgic songs while sitting up in bed.

Monday night, with a stand-in conductor leading his orchestra, the recorded voice of Lewis rang through the Skyway Lounge Bar where he collapsed Sunday.

As Lewis puts it, "is everybody happy?" You bet.

Dr. E. E. Woldman, his physician, said the musician was not in serious condition and that no surgery would be necessary.

Dr. Woldman said Lewis became ill while appearing in Circleville—his hometown—for a $10,000 benefit celebration April 25. At first Lewis refused to enter the hospital, but was finally persuaded by members of his band, the doctor continued. He will miss an engagement in Dallas, Tex., Dr. Woldman added.

Mine Safety Bill Approved

WASHINGTON, May 8 — (AP)—The Senate voted Wednesday to give the federal government power to enforce safety measures in the nation's coal mines.

The Senate bill would permit the secretary of interior to fix safety standards. Federal inspectors could close down a mine if they found a condition of imminent danger.

STAR PRINTED PIQUE—Tiny white stars are printed on olive green pique—a two-piece bathing suit designed by Claire McCardell for summer, 1952. The surplice halter-top ties at the back. The pull-on bloomers have an elasticized waistband.

22 Veterans Get Suspended Terms

NEW YORK, May 8 — (AP)—Suspended sentences have been meted out to 22 more World War II veterans, charged with conspiring to defraud the Veterans Administration by submitting false claims for beauty school tuition.

The sentencing, by Federal Judge Gregory F. Noonan Tuesday, brought to 50 the total number of accused veterans who have received suspended sentences in the plot. Another 149 veterans also are defendants.

Firemen Seeking 56-Hour Week OK

PORTSMOUTH, May 8 — (AP)—Portsmouth city firemen have filed court action to place their request for a 56-hour work week directly before the people.

Firemen filed suit in Scioto County Common Pleas Court asking city council be compelled to place their request before voters in a special election. Voters recently approved a 40-hour work week for city patrolmen over protest of City Manager Edward T. Beall and city council.

The Gulf of Mexico is approximately inches higher than the level of the Atlantic Ocean off the east coast of Florida.

Banker Steals $450,000 To Help Friends

PERTH AMBOY, N. J., May 8 — (AP)—A banker, described as a pillar of respectability in the community, is accused of embezzling more than $450,000.

The complaint against 50-year-old William C. Horley was entered Monday by the First Bank and Trust Co., where he was vice president at an $8,500-a-year salary.

Middlesex County Prosecutor Alex Eber said a series of bad investments engulfed Horley, whom he referred to as a "very generous man. He liked to help people. He made personal loans with bank funds."

After a five-hour quizzing which ended Tuesday, Eber said in order to cover up for shortages resulting from bad loans, Horley then took some of the bank's money and speculated in the stock market in attempts to recoup the loss. This stock market dabbling also turned sour and Horley found himself deeper and deeper in the red.

"It doesn't seem at the present time that any of this tremendous amount of money was either used for himself or for his family," said Eber of the banker.

Cop Admits Taking Bingo Receipts

CINCINNATI, May 8 — (AP)—A suspended Cincinnati policeman has admitted he beat a Catholic priest and robbed him of $1,500 in the rectory of St. Henry Church.

William E. Holt, 29, admitted the robbery after having been questioned for several hours. He has been under suspension from the police department since his indictment for taking "protection" money from west end dice game operators.

Holt told officers he staged the robbery because of the necessity of raising $1,000 in attorney fees for his forthcoming trial.

The money represented receipts from a Sunday afternoon bingo game.

1 In 4 Cancer Patients Saved

NEW YORK, May 8 — (AP)—The American Cancer Society says doctors now are saving one in every four cancer patients, and could possibly double this rate "without a lot of further knowledge" if the disease is caught early.

The society said it tried last year to build up an awareness among the public and doctors for the need of early diagnosis and treatment. The public education project included the use of pamphlets, films and radio and television broadcasts.

Oil Worker Dies

ZANESVILLE, May 8 — (AP)—A 31-year-old oil field worker, Davis W. Harbour of Bald Knob, Ark., was killed Wednesday when he was struck by a section of pipe while laying the "Little Inch" pipeline across Noble County.

Famous Name Of Parshall Coming Back

Doc's Son Breaks
Promise, Climbs
Aboard A Sulky

COLUMBUS, May 8.—(P)—The son of one of the nation's best known reinsmen has broken a 14-year-old promise to his late, illustrious dad.

And the broken vow brings back to the harness sport the name of "Parshall" and its feared and flashy red, white and blue silks.

For two decades, until his death in Urbana late in 1930, Hugh M. "Doc" Parshall, ruddy-faced match-chewing sultan of the sulky, made a habit of waltzing off with the nation's race and money won titles. On the twice-around and the Grand Circuit, his feats are legendary.

Doc's youngest, Hugh N. "Bud" Parshall, followed him around the big wheel from the time he was 12 until he was 18. At the start of the six-year tour, the elder Parshall said to the boy:

"UNDER NO circumstances are you to become a race driver. Promise me you'll stay away from this business."

Bud didn't understand, but he promised. He knew his dad, at 34, had been the youngest driver to win the famed Hambletonian—with Lord Jim in 1934—and that he was back in the winner's circle in 1939 with Peter Astra. He also knew Doc had driven 23 horses in two minutes or better, that his dad was "tops."

But obedient Bud didn't even cling into a sulky those six years. At home he cared for horses and listened to Doc's tales of the tracks.

In 1944, at 18, Bud joined the Army. He returned in 1947 to become an auto salesman.

Then in 1950, Doc's health failed. He gave up his berth as head trainer for the Hayes Fair Acres Stable, one of the nation's most prominent, and returned to Urbana. Late that year Bud approached his dad again.

"Dad," he said, "I've kept my promise 12 years. But I still love racing and want to become a driver. Will you let me?"

The veteran reinsman said "No!", emphatically.

"Just because your name is Parshall," he told his son, "you would not be handed anything on a silver platter. As a rookie you'd get sick, lame, lazy and bad-acting horses. You'd probably get hurt and you might get killed. No, you can't be a horseman."

TWO WEEKS later Doc died of a heart ailment which had plagued him down through the years.

A year later, young Hugh decided to break his promise. He got in touch with Jim Hackett of London, a life-long friend who had a stable of horses.

Hackett gave the youngster a job—first as caretaker, then as second trainer. All winter, in Florida, Bud worked with the Hackett trotters and pacers, remembering all the things his dad had told him years ago.

"I think dad knew I'd break that promise sometime," Bud said, "and I think he told me all those things to help me in just such a time as this."

So Bud is on his way. He has registered his dad's flashy red, white and blue silks as his own and he'll drive his first race in June at Painesville Raceway.

And the best bet that day is that old Doc will be in the sulky with his promise-breaking son as he parades to the post—and rooting for him down the stretch.

Clay Workers End Walkout

AKRON, May 8.—(P)—A strike of AFL workers in 25 clay pipe plants in Ohio, Western Pennsylvania and Indiana has been settled.

An industry spokesman Wednesday night announced acceptance of terms offered by the 3,600 AFL Brick and Clay Workers. Details were not disclosed. The strike started Monday over fringe issues in a contract that had been orally accepted by both sides. The workers received a 11-cent hourly pay boost under the pact.

COLUMBUS, May 8.—(P)—Dr. Roger E. Bennett of Middletown Wednesday was installed as new president of the Ohio Osteopathic Association of Physicians and Surgeons. Dr. W. D. Henceroth of Grove City was installed as vice president.

Czech 'Coincident' Irks Red Police

VIENNA, May 8.—(P)—The owner of a bookstore in Bratislava, Czechoslovakia, advertised four Russian books in her window and almost immediately was arrested by Communist police. She had written the titles on a poster in the following order:

"We Want to Live"
"Far from Moscow"
"In the Shadow of the Sky-scrappers"
"Under a Foreign Flag."

MADE A WIDOW only a few minutes earlier by a holdup man who shot and killed her husband in their San Francisco grocery, Mrs. Ida Cohen points an accusing finger at William Purdom (second from left) as the slayer. Police Inspector Mickey McGuire and an unidentified patrolman keep a tight grip on Purdom, who was captured after a gun battle in a nearby park. (International)

Radioactive Eggs Laid by Hen In Cancer Research Experiment

SHREWSBURY, Mass. —(P)—A hen named Hilda is laying radioactive eggs in a study of cholesterol at the Worcester Foundation for Experimental Biology here.

The big black hen is a "guinea pig" in a study of cholesterol at the Worcester Foundation for Experimental Biology here.

Scientists with Geiger counters check Hilda's eggs to find out more about cholesterol, a fatty substance manufactured in the bodies of humans and animals.

Dr. Ralph I. Dorfman, associate director of the foundation, and Dr. Erwin Schwenk are searching under grants from the American Cancer Society and the Atomic Energy Commission.

They said the greatest amounts of cholesterol are found in egg yolks. So when they sought a hen they chose Hilda, a cross between a Barred Rock and a Rhode Island

Red, and put her on a radioactive diet.

Hilda is fed a radioactive acetate, a solution much like vinegar. After the feeding her eggs are studied to determine the effects on her shells, yolks and egg whites.

Dr. Dorfman said the radioactive carbon is used as a "tracer." The acetic acid induces the production of cholesterol. Because the radioactive material is in the hen's system, the cholesterol is exposed and may be measured with a Geiger counter.

THE DOCTORS said this is what happens when Hilda lays an egg: It is taken to the laboratory and separated into parts. First the shell is placed in a test tube which is set near a Geiger counter.

The counter scratches like radio static and an indicator points out the radioactive count. Yolk and white are then tested in the same way.

What doctors hope to learn with the aid of radioactive Hilda is what part cholesterol plays in human metabolism.

Uncle Sammy's Tax Take May Be Declining

Businessmen Think Treasury Set Its Estimate Too High

NEW YORK, May 8.—(P)—The tax collector is the last person you'd think would be worrying today.

But businessmen say shrinking corporate profits are cutting into the U. S. Treasury's take from industry, and this drop may offset its greater bite on the pocketbooks of individuals.

If this proves to be so, it means private citizens will bear a greater percentage share this year of the burden of supporting the government, even though the income tax rates aren't going up again.

Tax receipts from both business and individuals in March came to $10 billion. But the treasury is reported to have expected the big payment month to bring in $12 billion.

Treasury Secretary Snyder says he still expects, when he closes his books June 30 on the present fiscal year, to record a total of $62½ billion in taxes—as estimated in the budget in January.

IF HE collects as much this May and June as he did in those months last year, he'll make it.

Individual income tax payments are unquestionably greater this year—as you must know. As long as individual incomes stay high, the new higher rates will bring a golden flow to the treasury. But many think that the treasury overestimated corporate earnings and therefore the amount it would get in income taxes from business.

So far this year most companies are showing lower gross earnings on which income and excess profit taxes are levied.

And most companies are setting aside less money now for tax in the body," Dr. Schwenk said. "We think too it may have something to do with arteriosclerosis (hardening of the arteries) and the process of aging."

Both doctors hope that long study of cholesterol may lead to a clue to cancer.

payments than they did at this time a year ago.

Total dollar sales of manufacturing companies in the first three months of this year ran one per cent above a year ago, the National City Bank of New York says in its May letter.

There's A Thief In The Ohio Pen

COLUMBUS, May 8.—(P)—Warden Ralph W. Alvis of Ohio Penitentiary Monday admitted "there is a thief in here somewhere."

The admission came after word leaked out the penitentiary commissary was looted about a month ago. The burglar got 50 cartons of cigarettes, and boxes of candy, peanuts and gum valued at $100, Alvis said.

"Perhaps someone just wanted to keep in practice."

ness—before taxes — rose four per cent—and, therefore, gross corporate earnings on which to levy income taxes were lower.

Club Treasury Empty After Half a Century

PITTSBURGH —(P)—The distinguished Union Club, founded a half century ago by steelmaster Henry Clay Frick, finally has disposed of its last $500.

Back in 1922 the club, which once had a membership of 800 prominent Pittsburghers, closed its doors. In 1936 the records were lost in a flood which engulfed most of Pittsburgh's business section.

The directors couldn't decide who was entitled to the money. The club books were finally closed with a $500 gift to the local Red Cross chapter.

Seven State Legislators Fail In Bids For Renominations

COLUMBUS, May 8 — Five state representatives and two state senators failed in bids for renomination in Tuesday's primary election, according to complete unofficial returns.

Richard V. James of Magnolia, Stark County, and C. I. Powell of Springfield, Clark County, both Republicans, lost their senate contests.

Their defeat could be attributed in part to the decennial reapportionment, based on the 1950 census. That reapportionment reduced the number of senators in their districts from two to one.

Both lost to their fellow senators with whom they served in last year's session of the legislature.

Theodore M. Gray Jr. of Piqua defeated Powell in the 11-12th district. James was defeated by Robert A. Pollock of Canton in the 21st district.

Beaten also in the primary, according to unofficial tabulations, were these five state representatives:

FRANK H. Pierce (R) Huron County; James R. Joyce (D), Jefferson County; George C. Philpot

(R), Noble County; Paul Fowler (R), Scioto County, and John Lehman (R), Stark County.

Nominees for the senate by districts include the following (X denotes incumbents):

Fifth-Sixth — Lowell Fess (R); Robert Mellman (D).

Ninth - Fourteenth — C. Stanley Mechem (R) (X); no Democrat.

Tenth—Robert H. Shaw (R); Wilbur L. Syull (R); Evan P. Ford (D); Everett M. Young (D).

Thirty-Second—Ross Pepple (R) (X); no Democrat.

Gurkha Soldiers Love To Fight

Fierce Warriors Nepal's Big Export

By HAROLD K. MILKS

KHATMANDU, Nepal—Some nations export coal. Others send abroad their foods, automobiles, or steel. But tiny Nepal's top export is still fighting men.

Sturdy Gurkha warriors—long famed for their skill at close-in warfare—flow out of Nepal steadily. And the money they earn flows back into this Himalayan kingdom to provide its greatest asset.

Today there are more than 30,000 Gurkha fighting men wearing uniforms of Britain and India—eight full battalions serving with the British forces, 24 in the Indian army.

Until some substitute means of livelihood is provided, the Nepalese government has dropped all thought of curbing the supply of replacements for these units.

The Gurkhas themselves, largely recruited from two main tribes in central and eastern Nepal, are cool to the idea that they should end their "foreign legion." Service abroad, they point out, means good equipment, good training for the fighting they admittedly love, and allotments or pensions to their families.

TOUGH NEPALESE Gurkhas have been the backbone of British, and British-Indian defenses for many decades. Gurkha regiments count their battle honors by the score, and have performed brilliantly in World War I, World War II, and the Asian conflicts which preceded them.

Favorite weapon of the Gurkha warrior—even in this atomic age—is the kukri, a 15-inch broadbladed fighting knife—half dagger, half meat-cleaver. With it the average Gurkha can lop off the heads of his enemies, disembowel the carcass of a buffalo for food, or chop his wood for a cooking fire.

Every Gurkha soldier wears a leather-sheathed kukri both as a badge of his service and his handiest fighting tool.

Cyclist, 6, Killed

COLUMBUS, May 8 — Six-year-old Donald Eugene Bullock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bullock of nearby Shawnee Hills, was killed Wednesday when struck by a car while coasting his tricycle near his home on Route 745.

THE GRASS may be green and dry where you are, but at the 8,000-foot highest point on the Lincoln highway, in Wyoming, the snow is still in mountainous drifts. Playsuit-clad Shirley O'Dell looks anything but chilly, however, on that battered snow fence. (International)

AWOL Officer Lives In Belfry

VALLEJO, Calif., May 8 —

The mystery of the church doors that would not stay locked was solved Monday when police arrested an AWOL Air Force lieutenant who said he had lived for three weeks in the belfry of Vallejo's Seventh Day Adventist Church.

The officer who turned the bell tower into a penthouse—complete with radio, electric heater, food and blankets—was booked as Lt. Clarence B. Wigley, 23, Wichita Falls, Tex. The Rev. J. J. Dollinger ordered the searches because he found the church doors unlocked every morning although he had carefully locked them each night.

A-Bomb Lights Pre-Dawn Sky

LAS VEGAS, May 8 — Detonation of an atomic bomb 75 miles away at Yucca Flat brilliantly lighted up the pre-dawn sky here Wednesday.

After the first flash of white light, which etched buildings here and the surrounding mountains, there was a golden glow in the sky, outlining clouds. Observers in Los Angeles, 250 miles away, reported seeing a "quick blink" in the sky to the northeast. It lasted only a fraction of a second.

Campaign For Safety Is On

Ohio Council Asks Fayette County's Aid

Fayette County people are being asked to help the Green Cross Safety Campaign during the month of May.

The Ohio State Safety Council is promoting the campaign to provide funds to support public safety education of all kinds throughout the state.

This is the 13th annual Green Cross for Safety Fund Campaign now being conducted by the Ohio State Safety Council and its local affiliates.

Approximately 5,000 volunteer workers are seeking 100,000 persons who will contribute $1 or more to help the state organization's effort to educate the public in safety precautions. All subscribers become associate members of the state council.

Green Cross funds are used exclusively for public safety promotion, according to Edwin H. Davis, the council's president, who heads the drive. Salaries and office expense of the council are met by dues of the full fledged members of the council.

Davis pointed out that Ohio's accident increase during 1951 was only about half of the increase in the rest of the country. "We feel that 12 previous Green Cross campaigns and our public safety promotion work in the last 22 years have had an important part in this record," Davis said.

A large share of the proceeds will be devoted to home safety, with traffic and school programs receiving but a little less. Home accidents last year accounted for 1,848 out of the total of 4,798 fatalities in Ohio. Traffic claimed only three more lives than home accidents, Davis said. "There are other agencies doing traffic safety work on a state-wide basis—but the burden of home safety largely rests with the Ohio State Safety Council. So we will put a little heavier emphasis on the home if our campaign produces money enough for the projects we have planned," the Green Cross chief stated.

The campaign also serves to inform many people that accidents can be prevented, so it is more than a money raising proposition. The Green Cross emblem on cars and in windows of homes reminds persons that they have a part in making Ohio safer.

Campaign headquarters are in the council's office at Cleveland, where H. G. J. Hays, general manager of the council, is directing the campaign.

Letters To Editor

Editor, Record-Herald

Dear Sir:
On Thursday, May 1, when I assisted with the Washington C. H. High School "Career Day" activities, I worked with 80 boys who want to enter farming or an occupation closely related to it.

The Monday, May 5, Record-Herald carried a report that 54 of the 107 eighth grade boys in the county school system want to be farmers.

Only two high schools in Fayette County offer vocational agriculture courses.

And yet, on Wednesday evening April 30, County Superintendent W. J. Hilty, in an open school meeting, is reported as recommending that the Washington High School eliminate vocational agriculture as an expensive luxury.

Is this a sample of how our county school leadership prepares the youth of Fayette County for their life work?

Do the students of vocational agriculture, and their parents, believe in this kind of backward leadership?

Peebles Wins As Republican Committeeman

Final tabulations revealed somewhat of a surprise to most Republicans in this county when it was learned that Robert Peebles of Scioto County had won for Republican state central committeeman in the sixth district of nine counties.

He was opposed by Harry A. Kahle of Clermont County who had a number of personal friends in Fayette County. Kahle made a vigorous campaign for the honor of holding this unsalaried position.

According to final reports from Scioto County, the largest county in the district where all county boards of elections send their official results, the total vote for Peebles was 15,788, for Kahle 13,125.

Peebles won the highest vote in most of the counties in the district including Fayette where he received 1373 against 1299 for Kahle.

Ex-Mobilizer Believes WSB Went Too Far In Steel Case

WASHINGTON, May 8 — (AP) — Former Mobilization Chief Charles E. Wilson Tuesday described the Wage Stabilization Board recommendations in the steel case as going "well beyond the limits of proper wage and price stabilization policy."

Wilson told a House Labor Committee that steelworkers were entitled to "no more" than a nine cents an hour "catch-up wage increase" to bring them in line with increases of workers in other industries.

Wilson said too that it was "not realistic" to request the steel industry to absorb the wage increase without raising costs.

The WSB recommended a package increase of 26 cents an hour for steel workers who now average a little under $2 an hour. The package included direct pay increases and additional benefits in the way of vacation, holiday and other allowances.

Wilson, who quit as mobilization chief in protest against administration handling of the steel case, was the first witness at a broad investigation by the House committee on operations of WSB.

Wilson told the legislators "the precedent set by the steel recommendations" was most important because it could lead to other wage increases.

And to increase costs by a general policy of wage increases at this time, Wilson said, would tend only "to produce either further inflation or a drop in employment."

Wilson went on to say he felt the battle to hold the stabilization line had been successful until March. The WSB made its recommendations in the steel case on March 20.

He said wages had kept pace with the cost of living and that consumer retail prices were only two per cent higher while wholesale prices were in some respects lower.

Lions Swamped At Circleville

Postponed Games
Pose A Problem

The Circleville jinx—plus a real good Tiger team—hung a 15 to 4 defeat on the Lions of WHS in an SCO League baseball game at Circleville Wednesday afternoon.

The game was really all over but the shouting after the first inning. The Tigers set in right at the start to maul the Lions with 8 runs in the first inning. That was just twice as many as the Lions got in all seven frames.

The Lions put across one run in the first and three more in the second and that wound up their act.

Ex-Yanks Star For Nats As Champs Falter

Washington Wins
6 Straight; Tribe
Trips Yankees Again

NEW YORK, May 8.—Bucky Harris and his Yankee refugees are licking their chops over a six-game Washington win streak while the world champ Yankees squirm in the second division.

Ever since the "big deal" sent Jackie Jensen, Archie Wilson and Spec Shea to Washington for Irv Noren, the ex-Yanks have been hitting and pitching like crazy.

Since they traded New York flannels for Washington, Wilson has hit .526, Jensen .450 and Shea has pitched 1-0.

Jensen cashed in two more hits Wednesday night in the Senators' 6-2 romp over feeble Detroit. Sid Hudson didn't need much help behind his five-hit effort.

While the Senators continued to spree, the Yanks still were shaking their heads over the strange sight of two straight Cleveland wins in Yankee Stadium. Mike Garcia got home with a 7-2 victory over the Yanks although nicked for 12 hits.

THE INDIANS needed that decision to stick one game behind the league-leading Boston Red Sox who crushed Chicago, 7-2, on southpaw Bill Henry's pitching and batting. It was his fourth straight.

Al Lopez, genial manager of the Indians, thinks he finally has found the formula for bringing the American League pennant to Cleveland. "It's simple," he confided, "Just beat those Yankees. That's all."

There was good reason for Lopez' jubilation. His Indians, chief contenders with the Yankees for American League honors, had just whipped their arch rivals for the second time in 24 hours.

That's something they could not do at Yankee Stadium during the entire 1951 season when they managed to win just one out of 11 at the Yankees' home park.

Philadelphia's Alex Kellner shoved the St. Louis Browns a little closer to their old home in the second division with a fine 1-0 triumph over Earl Harritt.

Brooklyn headed home from its first western trip, still in possession of the National League lead, with the help of some strong arm relief pitching by Johnny Rutherford in their 5-4 triumph over Cincinnati. The right-handed rookie from St. Paul came on after left-handed Chris Van Cuyk floundered in the third.

Don't let anybody tell you the Leo Durocher-Eddie Stanky battles won't be for blood. Durocher used

Scotty Robb To Call 'em For American

Cincy Reds
In Red After Eastern Tour

CHICAGO, May 8.—(P)—Umpire Douglas W. "Scotty" Robb, formerly of the National League, has been snapped by the American League—the quickest change of sides by an arbitrator in major baseball history.

Forty-eight hours after Robb, a four-year veteran of the senior circuit's call-em-as-you-see-'em set, resigned following a fine and disciplinary action by League Presihis two New York Giant aces—Sal Maglie and Larry Jansen—to subdue Stanky's St. Louis Cardinals, 3-1.

Howie Pollet broke into the win column for the first time this year with a five-hitter as Pittsburgh broke a six-game losing slump to whip the Phillies, 5-1. The scheduled Boston-at-Chicago day game was postponed because of cold.

dent Warren Giles, he was hired by Will Harridge, boss of the American league.

"Robb is the kind of gentleman we like to have on our umpiring staff," said Harridge.

Harridge, Giles and Robb did not go into any details concerning the reasons why Robb quit his National League job.

Robb was accused of pushing Manager Eddie Stanky of the St. Louis Cardinals during a game in Cincinnati April 22.

At a subsequent hearing, Giles disciplined Robb and fined him an undisclosed sum. Stanky was fined $50. Solly Hemus, Cardinal shortstop who started the altercation by tossing his bat away when he was called out on strikes, was fined $25.

Giles said the Robb fine was a "sizeable amount and much greater than the combined fines of the players."

Bolt And Burke Favored In Test

MEXICO CITY, May 8.—(P)—Two of the top golfers of the winter pro circuit, Jack Burke Jr. and Tommy Bolt, were heavy favorites as the first Pan-American golf tournament opened Thursday.

Leading amateur is Frank Stranahan, the sparkplug heir from Toledo, who holds the Mexican amateur championship.

Baptist Church To Be Enlarged; Officers Named

$57,000 Project
Given Approval
By Membership

The go ahead signal was given to a $57,000 addition to the First Baptist Church, at the annual business meeting, held at the Dayton Power & Light Co. auditorium Wednesday evening.

It was also announced that $7,000 had already been raised for the projected addition, which will provide adequate Sunday class rooms and a social hall.

The building committee reported that after a careful study of the needs of the church for Sunday school class room and social facilities they had consulted with Ralph Orr, of Columbus, an expert in church architecture. Orr's plans were shown and discussed.

Orr recommends the construction of a 30'x87' brick building on the east side of the church, with a basement for adult Sunday school classes and social hall, and two floors for children's and young people's department Sunday school classes.

The estimated cost of such a building is $57,000.

THE CHURCH voted to proceed with a finance campaign, and a finance committee will be named within the next week or two. The building committee will continue to work with Orr in perfecting the plans for the addition, and when the details have been worked out they will present the plans for the church's final approval.

It was announced that an anonymous gift of $1,000 was recently presented to the church for the building program. This, with other funds already on hand makes nearly $7,000 as a start on the building fund.

The financial report showed $12,500 was raised for all purposes during the year and that over $3,000 of the amount was for benevolences.

A covered dish dinner preceded the business meeting, and was thoroughly enjoyed.

Following reports of various committees, boards and Sunday school classes, the following officers were elected for the fiscal year:

Trustee, Willis Coffman (term expiring 1957); treasurer, Nello Fogle; financial secretary, Bertha Graves; clerk, Mrs. Robert B. West; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Walter McLean.

Sunday school superintendent, Robert Lambert; assistant, Jack Reno; 2nd assistant, Robert Brown.

Pianist, Elizabeth Yerian; associate, David Foster; assistant, Mabel Briggs.

Jr. choir director, Mrs. Robert Willis; Sr. choir director, Mrs. Robert Willis.

Board of ushers, Dwight Coffman, chairman; John Browning, Jr., Paul Smalley, Raymond Burchfield, Walter Hurtt, Harold DeWeese, Ernie Evans.

Christian education committee, Mrs. Dwight Coffman, chairman 2 years; Mrs. L. B. Rogers, 2 years; Robert Lambert, 1 year; Mabel Briggs, 1 year; Myrtle Thompson, 3 years; Margaret Hurtt, 3 years.

Social committee, Mrs. Willis Coffman, chairman; Margaret Alkire, Mrs. Paul Thompson, Ada Evans, Mrs. Harold DeWeese, Mrs. Raymond Burchfield, Mrs. Clyde Graves, Mrs. Manford LeMasters, Geraldine Bachelor, Linda Perrill, Mrs. Jack Doyle.

Resurfacing Part Of Prairie Road

Work of resurfacing 3.6 miles of the Prairie Road was started by Fayette County highway workers Thursday.

The improvement begins at the road's intersection with Route 70. It is estimated that under good weather conditions the project can be completed in about a week.

Bank Officials Here On Cincinnati Visit

Four Fayette County bank officials spent Wednesday evening in Cincinnati, the guests of the Cincinnati Central Trust Co. for dinner at the Queen City Club and then at the baseball game between the Cincinnati Reds and Brooklyn Dodgers.

They were Floyd Mitchell and George Campbell of the Washington Savings Bank, and Ray Madrox and Ford Ervin of the Milledgeville Bank at Jeffersonville.

After the ball game they went back to the Queen City Club for a snack before starting the drive back home.

Sen. Kefauver

next week. Kefauver said his Florida showing plus winning of 27 of Ohio's 54 delegates—also named Tuesday—practically assures his nomination.

Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio, who reaped all of Ohio's 56 Republican votes Tuesday, also claimed sure nomination.

Nomination requires 604 GOP votes, 616 Democratic votes. The Associated Press delegate tabulation—based on concessions, pledges, instructions and avowed leanings—gives:

Republicans—Taft 332, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower 280.
Democrats—Kefauver 104½, Foreign Aid Chief W. Averell Harriman 93½, Russell 41½.

Final Tribute Paid Mrs. Geo. Garringer

Rev. Lawrence Smith, pastor of the Jamestown Baptist Church, assisted by Rev. Michael Grange, pastor of the Bowersville Church of Christ, conducted the funeral services of Mrs. George A. Garringer in the Bowersville Funeral Home in Jamestown.

Rev. Smith delivered the sermon which was in the nature of a personal tribute to Mrs. Garringer.

Rev. Grange and Miss Kay Church sang the three hymns, "In the Garden," "Under His Wing" and "The End of the Way." The floral tributes which banked the casket were taken care of by the pallbearers, Dallas, Willard, Russell, Darrell and James Garringer and Maurice Sollars.

Interment was in the Jamestown Cemetery.

women better ideas about business and industry, it was the questions the students asked that often drove straight to the heart of the things in which they were most interested.

INASMUCH AS IT was business principles, rather than mechanical operations, that were highlighted, it did not make much difference where the students went for the day. However, they were given a measure of choice within the limits of accommodations of the hosts, it was explained.

Fifteen were assigned to the Armco Drainage and Metal Products Co.; ten to the Brown & Brockmeyer Co.; nine to the Coffman Stair Co.; ten to the Cudahy Packing Co.; ten to The Dayton Power & Light Co.; ten to Memorial Hospital; eight to The First National Bank; ten to the Med-O-Pure Dairy; 16 to the National Cash Register Co.; nine to the Ohio Bell Telephone Co.; eight to the Ohio Water Service Co.; ten to Pennington's Bakery; nine to The Record-Herald; eight to The Washington Savings Bank and eight to the French Mfg. Co.

A Chamber of Commerce spokesman said the event was "very successful." That appraisal, it was explained, was based largely on the remarks of the students and their hosts when they reassembled at the Fayette Theater to return to their schools for dismissal for the day. The students, it was said, were "very enthusiastic." The hosts agreed with them that "the visits could have lasted even longer."

Plans have been made to hold another BIE Day in the fall—one for the teachers.

Whether this will be an annual event for the seniors and the teachers is still uncertain, but indications now are that it will be.

Congressmen Plan To Inspect Wilmington, Cincy Airports

WASHINGTON, May 8 — A House Subcommittee will inspect airports in Northern Kentucky and Southwest Ohio involved in a dispute over location of an Air Force reserve training center.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) of the House Armed Services Committee suggested the trip at a subcommittee hearing Thursday on an Air Force decision to set up the center at the Greater Cincinnati Airport in Boone County, Ky.

The one-day inspection trip may be made by plane Friday.

E. V. Huggins, assistant secretary of the Air Force, and Maj. Gen. Harry A. Johnson testified that the Clinton County Air Force Base near Wilmington, Ohio, would not be suitable for the center because it is too far from a center of population. This space now is being used temporarily as a training center.

Johnson, who headed an Air Force committee that recommended the Greater Cincinnati site, told the subcommittee:

"YOU PUT YOUR reserve training center where you get your business."

He and Huggins said enlisted reserves are reluctant to travel more than 25 miles to training bases. This, they contended, would make it difficult to develop a program at the Clinton County Base which Johnson said is 50 miles from Cincinnati and 37 from Dayton.

Huggins said the Air Force expects a "larger, better-balanced" reserve program at Greater Cincinnati Airport because it is only 12 miles from Cincinnati.

Huggins said it would cost about the same—some $2 million—to set up the center permanently at the Clinton County base as to establish it at Greater Cincinnati.

Rep. Elston (R-Ohio) said he understands it would take less than $100,000 to put the Clinton County base in shape.

Huggins said the law obligates the Air Force to set up the center at Greater Cincinnati. Elston disputed this.

Mushroom Hunter Steps Upon Rattler

John Haynes of Columbus, while hunting mushrooms in Ross County, stepped upon a coiled rattlesnake and leaped away before the reptile could strike.

He was on Eisnagle's Ridge in Tar Hollow State Forest when he ran across it and killed it. It was three feet in length and had nine rattles and a button.

When he realized he had stepped upon the rattler, Haynes leaped aside and the struck the snake with a stick.

"I was carrying a stick of white ash, and had been told that snakes will not bite anyone while they are carrying a white ash stick. This snake did not even try to bite me," Haynes said.

illness of several months. Mrs. Long, who had been with her mother for the last six weeks, was at her bedside.
